The author of this bulky and handsome volume is well known as a Landscape Gardener of excellent general ability as well as of very inusual accomplishments in his profession. The work is comprehensive in design, and is executed with great skill and judgment. It fully redeems the promise of the title. It is a faithful picture of country life, and a thorough and trustworthy handbook of the arts with which country life is especially concerned. The volume is one of very remarkable

THE FIELD AND GARDEN VEGETABLES OF AMERICA: Containing full Descriptions of nearby Eleven Hundred Species and Varieties; with Directions for Propagation, Culture, and Use. By Fearing Burr, jr. Illustrated. Boston: Crosby and Nichols. This volume is one of particular usefulness to the agriculturist and the seedsman. Though embracing all the directions necessary for the successful management of a vegetable garden, the volume is offered to the public as a manual or guide to assist in the selection of varieties rather than as a treatise on cultivation. Nevertheless it is very effectually adapted to the latter purpose. It contains a rich store of information almost as rare as it is valuable. With respect to the characteristics which distinguish the several varieties of plants, the work is quite unequalled both in fullness and in accuracy. Like the work of Copeland noticed above, the work now under notice is got up in superb and elegant style. THE CONSTITUTIONAL HISTORY OF ENGLAND

INCE THE ACCESSION OF GEORGE THE THIRD, By Thomas Erskine May, C. B. In Two olumes. Boston: Crossy and Nichols.

We take it for granted that no intelligent American citizen, accustomed to think with any degree of earnestness on public affairs, will fail to read this work. Taking up the constitutional history of England where it was dropped by Hallam, the present author, with a patience and research and impartiality not all unworthy of his great predecessor himself, carries forward the subect to the current time. Of course the work at almost every turn is adapted to touch and impress the mind of a reflecting American. This is especially true of the second volume, which treats of such topics as "Party", "The Press and Liberty of Opinon", "Liberty of the Subject", and "Local Government". Under this last head, we cannot forbear to quote a short passage, which bears with singular force on a question that promises or threatens to become ele long the overruling question in our country. "That Englishmen," says the author, "have been qualified for the enjoyment of political freedom, is mainly due to those ancient local institutions by which they have been trained to our bank currency, and about as much postal | self-government. The affairs of the people currency as there used to be silver in use. We have been administered, not in Parliament only, but in the vestry, the town-council, the board-meeting, and the Court of Quarter Segsions. England alone among the nations of the earth has maintained for centuries a constitutional polity; and her liberties may be ascribed, above all things, to her free local institutions. Since the days of their Saxon ancestors, her sons have learned, at their own gates, the duties and responsibilities of citizens. Associating for the common good, they have become exercised in public affairs. Thousands of small communities ment; taxing themselves, through their representatives, for local objects; meeting for discussion and business; and animated by local rivalries and ambitions." This idea of local self-government, in its imperfect development so fruitful of political freedom on the other side of the Atlantic, finds its complete development in the States of our system, which the Jacobins amongst us would recklessly wipe out. Let the mad anarchists look into the history of political free-

[Correspondence of the Louisville Journal] THE DESTRUCTION OF THE CITY OF MADISON

As many exaggerated reports will doubtless each you concerning the destruction of the steamer "City of Madison," at the wharf near front of the city, receiving ammunition for the 13th Army Corps. A large quantity of artillery and small-arm ammunition had been paded upon the boat yesterday, and early this morning a detail of one hunded men from this (2d) brigade proceeded to the boat to finish the work. A like number were detailed from the lst Brigade. The men of the 2d Brigade were on duty at the time of the explosion. The regiments furnishing the men were the 19th Kentucky, 48th Ohio, 77th, 97th, and 130th Illinois. The ammunition was conveyed on board the boat by details of

About half past 10 A. M. the explosion occurred. The general opinion is that it was caused by an explosion of percussion shells that filled a large box, which is said to have lipped from the hands of the men who were iver. It did not sound like the explosion of gunpowder, and some persons who have witessed the explosion of steamboat boilers say ments of the boat were thrown in every d

The Edward Walsh was nearly ruined by the explosion among those who rushed upon the sinking vessel to assist in relieving the remaining suf-ferers was Col. McCook of Illinois, brother of Msj. Gen. McCook. All the negroes who were in the "hold" were lost. The following is a list of those who were known to be killed Lieut. Mitchell, 1st Missouri battery, killed.

BELLFONTE, ALA., Aug. 23, 1863. Information is wanted in the 2d brigade of the 20th army corps in reference to the money that was placed upon the allotment roll on the 17th of July last by officers and men of his command to be distributed to our suffer-ing families. It appears from high authority that the agents having charge of these funds take drafts upon New York and obtain the money on these at a good per cent. before they which is the case with a large number of fam our remittances placed upon the allotment and olls at the time above stated. This is a source of suffering which the good people managing the affairs of our government should not en-courage. The privations endured upon the field are quite sufficient for our weakened constitutions without sustaining the shock of corrors arising from want by our families at

at Vicksburg on the morning of the 19th inst., and witnessed the terrible river disaster which occurred on that day, has furnished us with the following full and highly interting particulars: One of the most frightful accidents, fatal in the loss of a large number of human lives and the destruction of an immense amount of property, valued at several hundred thousand dollars, which has ever happened on the Mississippi river, occurred at Vicksburg between 10 and 11 o'clock on the morning of the 19th instant. The magnificent Ohio and Lower Mississippi River Government chartered steamer City of Madson was lying at the landing, opposite the Prentiss House, loading with ordnance stores for the 18th army corps —General Ord's. Seven thousand six hunfantry ammunition, and about two hundred packages of powder, making in all over four ready been placed aboard. The ammunition was being lowered into the hold by means of a hoisting machine, when, as several pack-ages were about to be removed from the table or waiter of the machine, one of the deck hands in the hold, in passing a box of percussion shell from the waiter to another of the bands, let it fall, producing a terrific expla-

The explosion of the first shell was light, but in a second's time bang, bang went hundreds of others, until communicating with the powder in packages, the explosion culminated in a dull, dead sound that made the very earth remble, tearing the hull of the City of Madithe frame work remaining attached.

in the hold, all were killed except Connelly, the Second Mate, Martin B. Day, and a negro, all of whom, as soon as the box fell, and before the discharge of shell had become general, made their way through the after-scuttle, jumped into the river, and were picked up by a yawl and saved.

The First Mate, Wm. Tea, of Cincinnati, was standing over the hatch superintending the lowering of the ammunition, and upon seeing the box fall rushed for shore. Before he had fairly secreted himself behind a barge, which was on the wharf, the explosion took Capt. J. S. Neal acted in his stead; Dan'l allinger, of Maysville, Ky., pilot; Wm. Tea, Cincinnati, first mate; Jas. Even if no battles were unable to learn, strikers; John Goodyear, of New Orleans, carpenter; and Geo. Whiteman, of Madison, Ind., barkeeper.

The pilot, Mr. Ballinger, had his left leg and left arm badly broken in addition to being severely burned with powder. His recovery is doubtful. Captain Collins was in the ladies' cabin at the time of the accident, and had been sick for several days. He was sit-ting in a chair, from which he was thrown up several feet, and either in the fall or by the concussion was badly bruised. In the ladies' cabin was badly bruised. In the ladies' cabin was the chambermaid of the boat, whom the Captain pushed into the river, jumping in after her, both of them being saved. The chambermaid of the steamer Yankee, a negro woman, known by the name of Dora, was on board, and among those who perished. Connelly, the second mate, received several cuts about the head and face. The first engineer, Dewey, was badly bruised about the lower extremities. The second engineer was killed outright. Williams, the striker, was also outright. the emmunition exploded, which will account for the comparative small loss of life. The City of Madison had up steam at the time, at the boiler did not explode. The Edward Walsh was lying on the outside, her guards touching those of the Madison. Her starboard wheelhouse was smashed in, and the starboard engine badly broken.

In addition, every door on the boat was un-hinged, every pane of glass broken, and not a Some fifteen tons of stone coal, from the Madison, was blown on the roof of the upper deck of the Walsh, the damage to which will amount to several thousand dollars. The

Walsh was loaded with commissary stores, none of which were injured. Incidents.-About an hour after the explosion the bodies of three persons were found on the roof of the texas of the Walsh, where they had been carried by the concussion. Two of these were dead, while the body of the third, at the time of discovery, was cooking, the flesh, in spieces, having been burned black. A negro, standing on the Ed. Walsh, was, y the concussion, carried beyond Portereld's wharf-boat, a distance of fully 200 ards. He was uninjured. The steamer City of Memphis, with between our and five hundred sick on board, was lying within a few yards of the ill-fated boat at the time of the accident, and fortunately escaped without material damage. None of those on board were injured.
Other Incidents.—The heavy anchor of the City of Madison, weighing nearly a ton, was lifted from the forecastle, carried about seventyfive yards up the wharf, and buried in the earth, almost out of sight.

Capt. Frederick, of the 23d Indiana, who was standing on the wharf, had his hat torn into a thousand shreds by the concussion, and himself knocked down.

Throughout the city, and for miles in the interior, the report of the explosion was distinctly heard, while in the city and its immediate vicinity fragile articles were mashed to pieces by the force of the shock. The adage that danger, or seeming death, "makes us all equal," was strikingly verified in an instance which occurred on board the City of Madison.

A citizen named D. C. Irwin, with two other gentlemen, one of whom was an acquaint. imself knocked down.

er gentlemen, one of whom was an acquaint-ance and the other unknown, were standing between the clerk's office and the bar at the time of the explosion of the first shell. The shell passed through the upper decks, seeing which, Mr. Irwin made for the rear of the boat, followed by the other two. The stranger was caught by a piece of the spar, which impaled his body, while Mr. Irwin's friend was blown into the river, and drowned before assistance could reach him. Mr. Irwin himself succeeded in getting into the river, and, floundering about for some time, crawled upon a floating bulkhead. A boat approached, one of the inmates of which desired him to get in.

One of the deck hands on the Madison, a son of the Emerald Isle, who was also in the water, laconically rebuked the Captain, reminding him that drowning men are equal. Says Pat, "Bedad, if yez are an officer on shore, shure ye're no ranker than inny uv us here." The officer was saved and so was Pat. Boats in Port.—The boats in port at the time of the accident, and in the immediate vicinity of the City of Madison, were the Walsh, Maria Deming, Era, Glasgow, Illinois, City of Alton, and City of Memphis; all of which suffered, more or less in the beachers.

FOREIGN NEWS .- From the mails per steamship Asia we extract the following:

[From the London Times of August 6.] The struggle in America has evidently entered upon a very critical period. The North tremble, tearing the hull of the City of Madison into a million pieces, and leaving the entire boat a complete wreck, not one portion of the frame work remaining attached.

The loss of life on the City of Madison is estimated at from thirty to fifty—it will not exceed the latter number. Of the eighteen souls because the latter number. It does not appear at present that the have the means of successfully resisting suc was on the wharf, the explosion took place, and the boat was in ruins.

The boat's crew consisted of forty-one persons, fifteen of whom were killed and a number wounded. She was officered as follows:

Even if no battles were fought such a force would ravage the whole country and destroy the crops, and while the blockade is kept up the South cannot import sufficient grain for its necessities. It is clear that the Southern journals themselves feel that if such a combined force as we have indicated by the forces of Generals Banks, Grant, and Rosecrans can be made, it would drive the Confederacy to great extremities.

The Richmond Examiner of the 24th fully admits that Gilmore's shells reached the heart of Charleston, five (5) miles from the latter's battery.

We copy out of Harper this fine poem from the hand of the gifted writer whose nom de plume is "Howard GLYNDON": IN TIME OF WAR. There are white faces in each sunny street, And signs of trouble meet us everywhere; The nation's puise hath an unsteady beat, For scents of battle foul the summer air.

A thrill goes through the city's busy life, And then—as when a strong man stints his breath— A stillness comes; and each one in his place Waits for the news of triumph, loss, and death. The "extras" fall like rain upon a drought, And startled people crowd around the board Wherson the nation's sum of loss or gain In rude and harried characters is scored. Perhaps it is a glorious triumph gleam An earnest of our Future's recompense; Perhaps it is a story of defeat, Which smiteth like a fatal pestilence.

But whether Failure darkens all the land, Or whether Victory sets its blood ablaze, An awful cry, a mighty throb of pain, Shall scare the sweetness from these summer days God! how this land grows rich in Joyal blood! Poured out upon it to its utmost length, The incense of a people's sacrifice— The wrested offering of a people's strength!

THE DRAMATIC SEASON .- This evening our theatres open. The Louisville commences with Mr. Conway and the wonderful phenomenon of "The Ghost," a mechanical arrangement which defies all our preconceived ideas, and renders a shadowy vision palpable. At the East they have "ghost on the brain" everywhere, and talk of nothing else. Wood's Theatre, under the new management of Duffield & Flynn, introduces the juvenile Holman Troupe, a cage of singing birds, whose notes have excited the admiration of all who have heard them. Both theatres have been refitted and improved, and they are now the finest places of amusement in the West. If the managers have made judicious arrangements as regards their companies, we shall enjoy a de- | ace H. Harrison, Esq., Clerk of the United lightful dramatic season. Mr. Macauley, a universal favorite and a most promising actor, is the stage manager at the Louisville, and Mr. Grierson, an old, experienced, and popular artiste, conducts the business at Wood's.

ARRIVAL EXTRAORDINARY .-- Yesterday morning Capt. J. K. Edwards, our gallant Post Commander's Chief of Detectives, brought to this city and delivered at the Military Prison Lewis Ellis and J. H. Morgan, two notorious and desperate guerillas, who have for some time past been recruiting for the Southern army and committing all manner of depredaions in several of the adjoining counties. These two persons are known to be two of the gang who robbed the Bank of Carrollton. They, with one other named Watts, who was brought here on Saturday morning, make three of the master spirits in the robbery, who are now confined in our Military Prison. We congratulate Col. Mundy on the acquisition to his department of so vigilant an officer as Capt. Edwards. May he live long to be a terror to evil-doers.

We wish both houses all success.

SAD ACCIDENT .- The New Albany Ledger says that on Friday morning, as the steamer John T. McCombs was moving off from the wharf-boat at Troy, the wind being very high, she was driven back with so much force that one of the stock bars was sprung so as to slip from its mortice, and, flying back, struck an old soldier (recently of the Twenty-third Indiana, but honorably discharged), crushing his sky. He was but five miles from home, ng a family at Tell City. When he was put off at that place he was living, but with no possibility of his recovery. He had been full of joy at the hope of ere many minutes enjoying the warm embraces of the loved ones

This institution has attained great celebrity, and its managers are entitled to great credit for the energy which has kent the fire of its altars bright during the dark days of war. Last winter and winter before this college had good classes, and it is prepared for and expects a larger one the coming season. It is a good time for doctors, and young men can find no better place for thorough instruction.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY .- A party of men, from ten to twenty, entered the house of a toll-gate keeper on the Shelbyville pike, a few miles this side of Shelbyville, the latter part of last week, and forced him under threats of instant violence to give up all the money he had in s possession, which amounted to about sevty-five dollars. They repeated the operaon at three other toll-gates on the pike, but their success was indifferent, the sums of money they obtained being small or nothing.

FLAG-RAISING AT HOSPITAL NUMBER NINE. A very large and handsome United States flag will be raised at the U. S. Hospital No. 9, corner of Main and Wenzel streets, on Monday afternoon next, at three and a half o'clock precisely. The Post Band will be present. Rev. Mr. Heywood and several distinguished speakers will deliver addresses. The military and friends of the soldiers and public are cordially invited to be present.

Harrow and - Newman, were arrested on Lafayette street on Saturday night about halfpast eleven o'clock. They were drinking, and one of the two drew a pistol and shot a man, whose name is unknown, in the face, and knocked another man down. They were put in jail, and the case will be investigated on Monday morning.

The following is a list of letters remaining in the Medical Director's office, Louisville, 7., August 29th, 1863:

A heavy frost fell in this vicinity on Saturday, and in some places so thick that words could be plainly written on the ground, or upon whatever it fell, with the finger. This is a little singular, and something new for this season of the year. Great fears are entertained that if it was general, the tobacco crop will be seriously injured. A party of four or five young men, or rather boys who foolishly think themselves men, were on the corner of Third and Jefferson streets on Saturday night about half-past ten o'clock, speaking rudely, vulgarly to passers-by. Even ladies did not escape the sound of their vile, blasphemous language. Where ere the police?

THE DRAFT IN INDIANA .- A despatch from ndianapolis says that the number of men to be drafted in Indiana will be one out of every five of all enrolled in the first class. From this ratio there is to be deducted the excess of volunteers furnished over the State's quota. It is thought that when the final figures are made, the number to be drafted will be small, probably not exceeding ten thousand in the whole State, or less than one thousand to a Congressional District

The Cincinnati Commercial of Satur-One hundred and sixty-three bales of cotton were seized yesterday by U.S. Marshal Sands, being in transitu from Louisville and the prop-

was in the hands of Paymaster McFarland. Gen. Martindale, Lieut. Col. S. H. Lathrop, and Major Pelouse, form the Commission. RESIGNED .- John Trimble, Esq., has resigned his commission as United States District Attorney for Middle Tennessee, and the President has appointed as his successor Hor-

States District Court. A system of clandestine drill, by night especially, it is alleged, is being carried on somewhat extensively in the south of Ireland, and an application has consequently been made to the Irish government for extra constabulary force.

In spite of the statement that the Ohio canal, near Washington, was free from guerillas, twenty-five of the marauders were about twenty-five miles from Washington on Monday night. They did no mischief.

Harrison Leopold and Geo. Eckenberger escaped from the Military Prison in Covington on Friday last. Leopold was shot at and wounded by the guard, but not severely enough to prevent his escape.

Paymasters hereafter will be assigned to particular kinds of troops instead of attending, as now, to all kinds of service. This will facilitate the disbursements in future.

Henry C. Emerson and J. C. Athey have been arrested on the Potomac as blockade runners. They were sent to the Old Cap-

ARRIVED .- Fifty-seven rebel prisoners of war arrived on the Nashville train last night, and were taken to the Military Prison. The Military Prison at Henderson contains only one occupant-Mr. Stephen Duval, an aged farmer of that county. AN IMPORTANT REBEL LETTER.

[From the Toledo Blade. Below we give a letter picked up in the streets of Brandon, Miss., by Capt. Dennis, of the 72d O. V. I. We have the original in our possession. It is written in unusually fair penmanship, and, as the reader will see, in good style of composition. Its writer is evi-dently an intelligent man, and in a position to speak correctly of that whereof he writes. The letter is as follows:

"BRANDON, July 16, 1863. "I wrote to you very hurriedly yesterday, and this morning learn that Gen. Johnston has ordered this army to be marched across to Enterprise, 100 miles further. It will take a week longer. No provision has been made along the route, and the men are already much dissatisfied with the vacillating policy and hollow promises by which they have been duped so long. Of the 30,000 paroled at Vicksburg, only one half are now together, and, ere we reach Enterprise, this number will be reduced to 5,000—they of the Georgia, Alabama, and Tennessee troops, who also will leave, with or without furloughs, so soon as they learn the alternative of going into camp

son-we hear the guns constantly. The enemy are making gradual approaches, and after a week longer will have that place. With it falls Mobile. This entire section is fleeing eastward. Georgia will have a population of 5,000,000 to feed this year. Ruin, utter and entire ruin, has swept over this State. The negro emancipation policy, at which we so long hooted, is the most potent lever of our overthrow. It steals upon us unawares, and ere we can do anything the plantations are deserted, families without servants, camps without necessary attendants, women and children in want and misery. In short, the disadvantages to us now, arising from the ne-groes, are tenfold greater than have been all advantages derived from them earlier in

"It is useless to discuss the errors of the ast—possibly there are none that could have seen avoided—but certainly we are a defeated oblem undertaken; or rather ours was er-neous. The solution has been shown us by a more favored people.

"I have been staying with my friend Manlove, who bought a residence here some time ago, and moved his family from Vicksburg. Mrs. M. is to start with her children and the nly two servants left her, for Mobile, to-day nce she goes further east with a party from Jackson-none know where. save articles absolutely necessary, is sacrificed, and Manlove from great wealth has sunk to poverty. His case is a type of all.

"Provisions cannot be bought here at any price. The enemy fed our army for ten days —gave them five days' rations of everything (including coffee and tea), to make this march upon. Now the men are going about with empty haversacks-living on green corn and fruit. No commissary stores have been provided for them by Gen. Johnston. The fact is, that the greatest mismanagement and most ruinous neglect has been the reward, so far, of this army. Such confusion and dissatisfac-tion as is now presented here was never be-fore witnessed, and unless the troops are moved out of town to-day, the citizens of Brandon will have more cause to rue the advent of 'The Glorious Army of Vicksburg,' than 'If leave of absence is refused us, or limited to thirty days, I may not be able to get to you until ordered into Georgia. Thirty days is no leave at all. Affectionately, E."

Gen. Gilmore afterwards modified this order so far as to allow them to send forward such letters as he approved.

NEW YORK, August 29. The Bermuda Gazette gives an account of the proceedings in St. George's, showing that serious troubles are occurring there in relation to negro laborers, who have demanded higher wages for work in discharging vessels. Several assassinations have occurred, and cases of incendiarism have been frequent. A large quantity of cotton had been burned and thrown nto the bay to extinguish it. The rebel steamers Cornuba and Euga were at the wharf when the fire occurred, and sent their crews to extinguish the flames. Several speeches General Ewing telegraphed to Lane to-day saying he would defend Lawrence and Kansas, and requesting him to use his influence to prevent raids into Missouri. Lane replied that he, with 5,000 men, would assemble at Panola on the 8th September to tender their services to him, and if rejected he would ap-

Heintzelman's headquarters of a skir-mish on Monday last between a detachment of the 2d Massarhusetts cavalry, a California regiment, and Mosby's men. This attack by Mosby was made at Coyle's farm, on the Little River turnpike, some few miles this side o Fairfax. Our men, numbering only 25, were but fought nobly. Our loss was 2 killed, 3 wounded, and 9 prisoners, together with all the horses, fifteen of which, however, were afterwards recaptured. The loss of the enemy was one Captain and one Lieutenaut killd, and one Lieutenant and three privates two places in the side. His wounds are regarded as mortal, Col. The business portion of the city is entirely destroyed, together with nearly a hundred dwellings.
